

Dr. Intan Juliana Abd Hamid

Dr. Intan Juliana Abd Hamid is a Consultant of Paediatric Immunology and Allergy at Advanced Medical and Dental Institute of University Sains Malaysia. Previously, she further her study in the UK, and had obtained a PhD in Immunobiology from Newcastle University, UK in 2017. Her PhD research focused on the long-term outcome of Severe Combined Immunodeficiency (SCID) patients after hematopoietic stem cell transplantation in Newcastle, UK. She also had completed a year of International Clinical Fellowship in Paediatric Host Defence Unit, Newcastle upon Tyne NHS Foundation Trust, UK, where she had an exposure on the management and hematopoietic stem cell transplantation for patients with primary immunodeficiency diseases. She's back home in Malaysia since September 2017 and has started Paediatric Immunology service in Institute Perubatan & Pergigian Termaju, USM. Her current research focused on exploring the diagnosis and disease mechanism of primary immunodeficiency diseases in Malaysia.