Dr. Nahla Hashim Hassan Erwa

Dr. Erwa is a clinical immunologist with expertise in both clinical and laboratory settings. Trained in the UK, she manages adult and pediatric patients with immunology and allergy issues in Sudan. She leads the clinical immunology training program for the Sudan Medical Specialty Board and heads the clinical immunology service at Soba University Hospital, a renowned referral center. Dr. Erwa's research focuses on Primary Immunodeficiencies (PID), and she actively advocates for PID patients while training medical students and healthcare providers. She has contributed to the development of protocols and guidelines, including the A-project for PID diagnosis and care in Africa, and is collaborating on African IEI guidelines and registry development with ASID.
