

Dr Ewen Munro

Dr Munro is a dedicated Senior Medical Director with Pharming, bringing a wealth of industry and scientific experience to a role that covers European, Middle East and Asia Pacific countries. Ewen holds a PhD in Genetics and Molecular Cell Biology and has worked in a variety of Medical Affairs roles, covering non-malignant hematology, cardiology, and immunology. Currently, he leads a diverse team which supports wider scientific communication, evidence generation and medical information activities. Ewen is passionate about advancing science for the benefit of primary immunodeficiency patients and thrives on building long term relationships with enthusiastic researchers and clinicians to achieve this crucial goal.