

Dr Jia Hou

Dr Jia Hou, M.D., Ph.D., serves as the Deputy Chief Physician at the Department of Clinical Immunology and Allergy within the Children's Hospital of Fudan University, located in the National Children's Medical Centre in Shanghai, China. With a focus on paediatric allergy and immunologic diseases, Dr Hou has dedicated over a decade to researching and treating primary immunodeficiency diseases.

Beyond her clinical and academic roles, Dr Hou actively engages in public welfare charity work for primary immunodeficiency diseases. Since 2014, she has played a pivotal role in organising the global PID commemoration week at the Children's Hospital of Fudan University, demonstrating her commitment to raising awareness and supporting PID patients and their families. Through her efforts, Dr Hou strives to make a meaningful impact in the lives of those affected by these conditions, while also championing charitable initiatives to provide essential resources and support for domestic PID patients.
