

Johan Prevot

Johan Prevot is Executive Director of IPOPI and has over 25 years of experience in patient advocacy and health policy. He leads IPOPI's global activities, awareness and advocacy initiatives, and supports the development of its international network. He also serves on the boards and steering committees of several organisations focused on rare diseases, gene therapies, plasma products, and newborn screening